Acorn Design Company

I just wanted to say thanks for all your help with my recent web design project. From start to finish Eric Grossman was there for me and helped me with everything from answering basic questions about pricing to the eventual set-up and design of the website. I was impressed by his knowledge of what would make the page look appealing and easy to function.

My questions were always answered in a timely fashion by e-mail or phone. Eric was instrumental in helping me with everything from the layout of the page to inserting pictures and creating a contact page.

The project came in under budget and I would agree with the statement that Acorn Design Company is reliable, on-time and on budget!

I would definitely recommend Eric Grossman and Acorn Design to anyone who is interested in getting a website design.

Thanks for all your help,
